SEOUL, Saturday, June 27 (AP)—Nine thousand Chinese Reds drove South Korean troops off five or more main line positions on the East-Central Korean front today in a grim unceasing battle.

The Communists gained ground on the flanks of the Pukhan river and the same rugged mountains where three Red divisions scored their biggest gains just two weeks ago.

The attack by three Communist regiments, totaling 9000 men, began Thursday night on the third anniversary of the Korean war.

Meanwhile other South Korean troops won back three hills on the Western front which the Reds took Friday in a drive by a full Chinese division against eight outposts.

The Reds suffered an estimated 3700 casualties in the west. UN officers said.

THE SWELLING drive by 9000 Reds in East Central Korea was following the same pattern of the push that pinched two miles out of Allied lines earlier this month.

Front line reports said one of three Chinese regiments broke through three main positions of the Third Republic of Korea (ROK) division due east of the Pukhan River early this morning. The break came shortly after midnight.

Another Red force of more than two battalions hit and captured two more front line positions a few miles to the east, front reports said.

South Koreans were counter-attacking in an attempt to regain the lost hills on the rugged front.

THE THIRD attacking Chinese regiment scored big gains against the third ROK division at the junction of the Pukhan and Kumsong rivers on the west shoulder of the Chinese push.

The Reds swept the ROKs off three hills in this sector. Counter-attacking South Koreans regained the dominant peak only to be driven off in hand-to-hand fighting in a furious Chinese counterattack accompanied by great artillery barrages.

State Agency to Use Tobacco-Dust Spray On Schuylkill Canal

Insecticide soaked in tobacco dust, to sift through plants onto mosquito-breeding water, will be a new feature of the airplane spraying of the old Schuylkill canal that runs through Pottstown.

This was announced yesterday by Col. Russell Gies, Media, State consultant on insect control, who will direct the spraying operation, which will be based at Pottstown Municipal airport.

The spraying will be done Thursday, if the weather permits and if Government approval is obtained for repairs made recently to the spray plane of LeHava Air service.

"People shouldn't worry about a low-flying airplane," Gies said, "because it's absolutely necessary that it fly pretty low to get the spray on the water."

THE TOBACCO-dust spray will be harmless to anything except mosquitoes, Gies said, and since it is dry, householders need not worry about it harming such things as cars and clothes.

After the tobacco-dust spray, brown in color, lands in the water, the insecticide gradually is released into the water.

The plane will spray nearly 40 miles of the abandoned canal, from Norristown west through Pottstown and Birdsboro to Hamburg.

There will be four sprayings this season, one every three weeks, Gies reported.

THE WEATHER

For Eastern Pennsylvania: Today, partly cloudy and not so warm, with the highest temperature in the 80's. Tomorrow, some cloudiness and a little warmer coupled with the possibility of scattered afternoon thundershowers.

FIVE PLANTS SET SHUTDOWN FOR VACATIONS

Spicer's Will Close Today, Take Inventory

MOST PERIODS TO INCLUDE LONG HOLIDAY OF JULY 4

Four major Pottstown plants will shut down for general vacation period that will carry past July 4, while a fifth major plant expects to have a vacation shutdown at the end of August.

The Stanley G. Flagg and company plant in Stowe, which closed last night, will re-open on July 13, it was reported by George A. Cocke, general superintendent. Employees will take their vacations during this period.

At Spicer Manufacturing division's plant, there will be a shutdown for inventory-taking which will begin this morning at 7 o'clock, the end of the third shift, and continue until July 6.

Those who volunteered to do so will help take inventory rather than take a vacation, it was reported by James Spargo, personnel director. Also helping on inventory will be some new employees who have not earned vacation status.

EMPLOYEES ENTITLED to more than one week vacation will take the extra time at scattered periods. Spicer workers already have received their vacation pay.

The Loomcraft Frocks incorporated plant closed down as of last night and will re-open the morning of July 6, it was reported by Albert Tinkoff, co-manager. The plant will have another vacation shut down later in the year, probably at Christmas time.

At Firestone Tire and Rubber company's plant, E. T. Handley, plant manager, reported that due to heavy maintenance work and mechanical changes planned, the plant is expected to be shut down Saturday night, Aug. 29, and not re-open until Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 8. CLARK WAS accompanied by Ambassador Robert Murphy, his political adviser, and Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., chief of the Allied delegation at the Panmunjom truce talks.

After Robertson's first session with Rhee yesterday, he said "We hope we are making progress in removing misunderstanding" in the rift over armistice terms.

The second meeting was scheduled for 2:30 p. m. (12:00 a. m. Pottstown time).

In preparation for the session Rhee held a closed door session with his cabinet Saturday morning.

Rhee, stiff opponent of the truce agreement ready to be signed by United Nations and Communist negotiators, said after the two hours and 45 minutes meeting yesterday:

"Mr. Robertson has brought good ideas and our mutual understanding is being greatly improved."

LATER, THE Korean Public Information office quoted the South Korean President as saying the discussions had been "very good" (Continued on Page Three)

Dry, Humid Weather Drives Pottstonians To Resorts for Relief

The weekend exodus to the resort areas has begun, and in a matter of hours Pottstown may take on that ghost-like appearance of the past weekend.

Those making the jaunts in order to escape the heat are a bit skeptical about the weather. But judging from what the weatherman has to say, there is little or nothing to worry about.

From out of his crystal ball, he plucks a prediction that should please everyone. He is looking forward to a continuance of warm weather today and Sunday with a chance of scattered thundershowers.

Prospects for the mountain regions are slightly cooler weather with light showers falling by tomorrow afternoon.

ON THE New Jersey coastal, Delaware and Chesapeake bay areas, it is expected to be warm and humid and partly cloudy after- (Continued on Last Page)

Township School Project Is Again Underway

Work on the new addition to Upper Pottsgrove Township Elementary school is progressing satisfactorily again after coming to a standstill the past month with the carpenters' strike.

Because of the open winter, the building got off to a good start only to bog down with the coming of Spring.

Marshall Hughes, Reading architect, was optimistic about getting back on schedule when queried recently.

ACTION ASKED BY RESIDENTS ON OFFER OF LOTS

Homeowners Say Tracts Are in Poor Shape

By ROBERT E. HOYER (Mercury Staff Writer)

Park drive parents last night agreed on one point concerning three lots Contractor Allen K. Davidheiser Jr. offered to the borough for playground areas.

They do not like the lots in their present condition.

Most homeowners don't care who has custody of the two Park drive and one Terrace lane tracts, but they think weeds should be cut on lots and playgrounds established either by the borough or by Davidheiser.

Several residents have thought about taking over the lots as a community project.

All agree Davidheiser promised playground or park areas on the three properties when they purchased their homes.

ONE OWNER would rather see homes on the "weedy" sites than permit them to remain in their present condition, or turn them over to the borough which he claimed "is not financially able to do anything with the lots at present."

Davidheiser has threatened to build homes on the tracts unless the borough does something about his offer this summer. He said he would deed the properties to the borough, only if they are converted into playgrounds.

He further stated he cannot continue to worry about the weed menace and will build homes on the three sites if the borough does not accept his offer. He valued the lots at $6000. He told The Mercury this past Monday the lots are (Continued on Last Page)

Bible School Attendance Called Tops; Churches Hold Closing Exercises

"The best attendance we ever had!" That was the unanimous sentiment of Pottstown vacation Bible school directors as two weeks of daily sessions ended in a dozen churches yesterday.

"We had triple the attendance this year than we did last summer," Capt. C. Robert Flinn, commander of the local Salvation Army citadel, estimated last night.

Unlike the other religious groups that sponsored schools, the citadel had two sets of classes in two places at two different times.

Sessions were held at the citadel in the mornings and at Hilldale in the afternoon, with a total enrollment of 307 children.

CLOSING exercises were held last night at the citadel, with 118 children getting perfect attendance certificates and 21 receiving plaque awards for craft and memory work.

Other two-week schools that held closing exercises yesterday or last night included Emmanuel St. James and Transfiguration Lutheran St. Paul's Walnut and Penn Street Reformed, Baltzell Evan-

Mercury's Orlando Wins Top Prize in Photo Contest

Mercury Staff Photographer Eugene Orlando won a first prize in the annual news-photo contest sponsored by Pennsylvania Associated Press members, it was announced last night.

His winner was his split-second capture of a Pottstown volunteer fireman's collapse from smoke at the $20,000 fire at the Arnell store, 261 High street, the past April 30.

The photo won first prize in the spot news division for Associated Press newspapers in communities under 50,000 in population. He also won an honorable mention in the feature division, with a photo of a Pottstown man wearing a barrel as he paid his income taxes.

Orlando also won an honorable mention in the Associated Press contest in 1951 for a feature photo of a Pottstown man wearing a barrel as he paid his income taxes.

50% JUMP IS SET IN RENTAL OF MAIL BOXES

Area Residents Affected By Boosts Due July 1

SOME LODGE COMPLAINTS, BUT NONE DROPS SERVICE

After July 1, it'll cost you 50 percent more to rent a box at the postoffice.

But checks at postoffices in Pottstown, Stowe and Sanatoga yesterday showed that most people just registered a token gripe or two then went on as they have in the past.

J. Alfred Marquet, Pottstown's postmaster, explained that he has four different sized boxes. The prices as of July 1 will jump as follows: from $1.50 to $2.25; from $2.00 to $3.00; from $3.00 to $4.50; and from $4.00 to $6.00.

"In all we have 510 boxes here and they'll all be rented," he said. "And even if a few people do drop the boxes because of the price boost, I have a long waiting list."

BUT MARQUET doesn't think people will stop their rentals. A few of them complained, he said, but not too seriously.

The prices quoted above, he explained, are for quarterly rentals. All boxes are rented for a quarter of a year at a time.

"Actually," he said, "the complaints were much milder than we expected."

The rental fees have changed very little in the past ten years, he said. The last increase was made a year ago but it was a very small one.

THE INCREASE was one of a series of boosts made under the new Administration in an attempt to cut down the tremendous deficit under which the Postoffice department always has worked.

The Sanatoga postoffice has about 100 boxes, postmaster Kenneth H. Drumheller said yesterday.

"I've heard very few complaints about the increase. I'm sure not many people will stop using them. The 100 will be rented after July 1."

Charles Flickinger, clerk at the Stowe postoffice, said he has received several complaints but that when he explained the reason for (Continued on Last Page)

Firemen Extinguish Grass Fire on Route 73

A grass fire along Route 73, near Gilbertsville, was extinguished yesterday afternoon by Gilbertsville Fire company.

The fire, which started in brush being burned, was on the property of Lucian Hollowbush, Gilbertsville RD 1. When it got out of control firemen were called by a neighbor, Mrs. Essie Brendlinger.

Policemen Seek Action On Pay Hike Pledges

By MERCURY STAFF WRITER NORMAND POIRIER

Two policemen, fighting the cause of eight others, tried to make the police committee stand by "old promises" last night in borough hall.

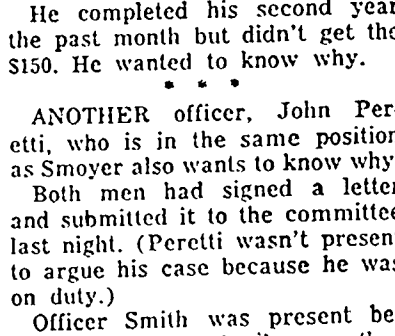

In an hour-long session that was filled with a confusing welter of charges, counter-charges, figures, dates and claims, the two officers tried to clear up a salary situation that they claimed was partly responsible for the police force's bad morale situation.

Parrying thrust for thrust with the officers were Earl R. Strange, chairman of the committee, and Peter J. Lawler, the only other member present. The four other members were absent.

The debate, which reached near-shouting proportions at times, ended in a temporary armistice: the questions would be taken up at the next committee meeting when more members were present.

BUS LINE ASKS BOOST IN FARES

Reading Company Seeks 20 to 50 Percent Jump

It will cost Pottstown and area patrons more money to ride Reading company buses after July 25, unless the Public Utility commission suspends the new rates.

The Reading Transportation company yesterday asked the PUC permission to boost bus fares through its entire system from 20 to 50 percent.

In its application, the company asked for a minimum increase of 20 percent for long bus trips, and estimated the average bus patron would be charged an additional 7 1/2 cents per ride.

In the Philadelphia suburban area the increase would be five cents a ride.

Reading buses make four trips to and from Pottstown daily and service communities west and east of the borough along Route 422 on all runs.

BUSES ARRIVE at the Reading company station, Pottstown, from Reading at 6:39, 8:34 and 11:54 a. m. and 5:59 p. m. Enroute they stop at Monocacy, Douglassville and Stowe. Buses generally make other non-scheduled stops to accommodate patrons.

East of Pottstown, buses stop in Sanatoga, Limerick, Trappe and Collegeville enroute to Norristown and Philadelphia.

Buses arrive at the borough station from Philadelphia at 7 and 10:14 a. m. and 3:45 and 7:32 p. m.

The new fares will become effective on Sunday, July 26, unless suspended by the PUC.

The company announcement said the bus system operated at a $50,000 loss this past year, and under present trends would lose $120,000 this year.

Model Plane Fliers Are Set for Meet

With that enthusiasm known only to those who have engaged in competitive sports a pair of Pottstown area model airplane builders want to test their handwork tomorrow.

Harry Leopold Jr., Limerick, and Ted MacIntire, Royersford RD 1, trophy winners in the National Capital Model Air meet two weeks ago, will gamble their entries in the Hicksville, Long Island, show tomorrow afternoon.

They gambled and lost the past week. Leopold crashed two models in the Johnsville model competition, near Willow Grove this past Sunday. His third entry failed to finish among the winners.

MacIntire's luck was better. He failed to win a prize, but his entries finished unscathed in competitive action on the crowded field.

Both model builders have been to Hicksville before. They will enter the Long Island race as members of the Norristown Flying Wing club. They will leave for Hicksville this afternoon.

ARTHUR SIZER GETS JAIL TERM

Former Proprietor Given 10 Days on Indecent Show Charge

Arthur Sizer, former owner of a West High street diner, was sentenced yesterday to ten days in Montgomery county prison for permitting obscene shows in the diner's cocktail lounge.

In his plea that Sizer be spared a jail term, Attorney William A. O'Donnell Jr. told President Judge Harold G. Knight that the arrest and conviction already had cost Sizer $15,000.

Sizer sold his Art's diner after it was raided by county detectives and State Liquor Control board agents the past Fall. Because of the unfavorable publicity, O'Donnell said, the terms were virtually dictated to him.

In addition, the Pottstown attorney said, Sizer has been unable to get back the liquor license he lost as a result of the raid. The license, O'Donnell said, could have been sold for from $7500 to $8500.

FIRST ASSISTANT District Attorney Bernard E. DiJoseph conceded the loss of the business was a blow but asked for a brief jail term so "others in the county wouldn't follow suit in presenting that sort of entertainment."

Judge Knight said to Sizer, "I realize you have been severely punished but on the other hand you should have known there are numerous regulations to the sale of liquor."

The judge also ordered Sizer to pay a total of $125 in fines on the charges.

O'Donnell criticized liquor agents, who visited the lounge three times, for prosecuting instead of warning Sizer. DiJoseph defended them for doing their duty.

Sizer and three men who gave female impersonations were arrested during the raid. The three performers: Jay Colby, 32; Frank Quinn, 33; and Frankie Davis, 27. New York City, were sentenced to prison terms of three months each.

Sizer was convicted after a trial by judge the past March. Sizer said he had booked the show after seeing it on stages in nearby communities.

Committee Sees New Pay Schedule For Patrolmen

The salary debate between two police officers and council's police committee last night revealed that the committee is considering a plan whereby all patrolmen would get the same salary.

Chairman Earl R. Strange acknowledged during the discussion that the committee was thinking along the lines of a salary schedule that would give all patrolmen the same pay, instead of the present system of graduated increases.

Under the new system, still in the talking and planning stage, a new patrolman would immediately draw "maximum" salary after the completion of his probation period.

"Most communities have that system now," Strange said later, "including Norristown."

Peter J. Lawler, member of the committee, said at one point in the meeting, "I don't believe any policeman should have to work for less than $3500 a year."

Liquor Violator Gets Three-Month Term

The last case resulting from a series of raids on Pottstown area speakeasies the past March 13 was disposed of yesterday when Lawrence Galloway, 63, Apt. 27-A, Road B, Hilldale, was sentenced to three months in Montgomery county prison and to pay $200 in fines.

He was convicted the past June 9. State Liquor Control Board agent William L. Campbell testified he and another investigator visited Galloway's home, the past Jan. 18 and bought a pint of homemade wine for $1.

President Judge Harold G. Knight sentenced him.

Give Garden An Extra Feeding Of Food as Harvest Time Nears

The placement method of applying plant food is efficient on summer sowings.

As garden plants near their insecticide sprays, harvest period, vegetables, flowers. Experience has shown that more and lawn will benefit by extra frequent applications of small feeding, which will add size and quantities give the best results, color to the flowers, heavier yield, so there is never reason for taking quality to the vegetables, and using any risk in using too strong a thicker turf and deeper color a solution.

When summer sowings are made in the vegetable garden to follow early vegetables which have been cleared off, it is just as important that plant food be provided as in the Spring.

The placement method of application, by spreading plant food in shallow trenches on both sides of the row where seed are sown, will give maximum efficiency. Apply two to four pounds to 100 feet of row.

Make the plant food trenches about four inches deep at least two inches away from the seed drill. Pour in the plant food evenly and cover with soil. Then proceed with the seed sowing.

Long season crops, such as tomatoes, peppers, egg plant and others which grow and bear throughout the summer, will be benefited by extra feeding as harvest approaches. Those which bear fruit should be fed after the first fruits set.

Pour liquid fertilizer on the soil around each plant or use a tablespoonful of plant food worked into the topsoil near the base of each plant, and well watered.

Poultry Group Plans Twilight Meeting at New Bolton Center

A twilight meeting on poultry disease control and management has been announced for Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at New Bolton Center.

The meeting has been arranged to give Chester county poultrymen an opportunity to visit the poultry disease diagnostic laboratory at New Bolton center, which is a branch of the University of Pennsylvania school of Veterinary Medicine.

The topics to be discussed are: How to use the poultry disease diagnostic service; recent developments in poultry disease control and summer management of laying and broiler flocks.

The speakers at the meeting will be Dr. George Sperling, director of the center's disease diagnostic laboratory and Carl O. Dossin, extension poultry specialist.

The center is located along Route 926, two miles west of intersection of Routes 82 and 926 near Kennett Square.

Anderson, president, Medina, Tex.; Eisenhower; Fred Triplett, Hillboro, Tex.; John E. Kirk and M. P. Gailbraith, both of Wichita, Kansas.

Red Stele Attacks Strawberry Plants

In some beds strawberries are wilting and dying from red stele. Diseased plants appear healthy until the berries begin to ripen, and then suddenly wilt and dry up.

Root rot, which attacks weakened plants and causes the roots to turn black, may be mistaken for red stele.

Roots of red stele affected plants have a rat tail appearance. The stele (or core) of the affected roots is dark red in color while other roots have a white core.

Where red stele is present, plants should not be taken for replanting and strawberries should not be grown in the same location for at least four years.

Fairland and other varieties have shown a high degree of resistance to this disease.

Cost Drop Trails Price Declines

While the prices farmers receive for their products have been registering some declines, the prices they pay for the things they need to produce and for living have decreased only slightly in comparison. This is borne out by figures recently published by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Electric brooders dropped ten cents from an average of $45.50 to $45.40, between March 15 of this year and March 15 of this year. One-bottom tractor plows dropped from an average price of $143 to $136 during the same period. But manure spreaders went up an average of $3 from $420 to $423, and gasoline went up from an average of 26.4 cents to 26.8 cents.

Among prices received by farmers, potatoes dropped from an average of $2.31 to $1.34 per bushel between April, 1952 and April, 1953. During the same period, a 70-pound crate of lettuce fell from an average price of $3.05 to $2.75. The parity ratio between prices

Record Supplies Make Storage Pay

With latest estimates of total wheat supplies at the end of harvest boosted to 1,702,000 bushels and an above normal corn crop, the good business advantages of on-farm storage are spotlighted. State Production and Marketing Administration Chairman Clyde A. Zehner said today.

The large supplies indicated by this month's Department of Agriculture crop report emphasize the need for adequate storage for farm crops. With storage facilities available, farmers are in a position to spread out their marketing and take advantage of any price increases later in the year.

According to the chairman, increases in prices for grain crops stored and sold later in the year, as contrasted with sales at harvest time, have run from 25 to 50 cent a bushel in recent years. Satisfactory bins, he explains, can be built or bought at costs ranging from about 35 to 50 cents per bushel of capacity. Less costly structures can be put up for ear corn to be fed during the year.

Furthermore, farmers can borrow up to 80 percent of the cost of the structures with four years to pay at 4 percent interest. He suggests that farmers consult their banker or PMA office regarding storage facility loans.

Farm storage and warehouse storage loans and purchase agreements are available for wheat, corn, soybeans and other grains. Farm storage and purchase agreements only are available for all other grains.

Poor Sour Cherry Crop Caused by Heavy Rainfall

HARRISBURG, June 26 (AP)—Another hot and dry week failed to hinder planting and harvesting progress on Pennsylvania farms, the latest Federal-State crop-weather survey showed today.

Rainfall was below normal for the third straight week but soil moisture was adequate for continued good growth. Temperatures averaged about four degrees above average.

The summary indicated Pennsylvania's sour cherry crop would be the smallest in five years. Heavy rainfall during the growing period is blamed for the poor crop.

New Holland's great new twine baler

The Surprise of a Life Time! That's the New Holland "66" twine baler. You've never seen a baler so compact in design... so completely new — feature after feature.

You'll be amazed the first time you see the "66". It's shorter and lower than most balers of its type on the market. It's designed to operate at full efficiency with one or two-plow tractor. Best of all, it's priced so low that now even small-acreage farms can afford the finest in baling equipment.

Now you can enjoy the full benefits of having your own baler. You can bale your hay the moment it's ready to come in. And in the field you'll find it hard to believe your eyes when you see how the "66" gobbles up the windrow. Nothing seems to stop it. It can kick out 6 firm, square bales a minute... package up to 7 tons of hay in an hour! And it bales anything — clover, prairie hay, sudan grass, maize.

Come in and see us right away! We're ready and waiting to show you a "66". We'd like to go over this wonderful grassland machine with you point by point... give you positive proof you can't buy better at the price!

A full line of balers! The New Holland "65" proudly takes its place with the famous "77" twine baler and the Mighty "80" wire baler — with the highest capacity balers in the world. No matter what material you bale or what field conditions you work under, no matter whether you lead, sell or custom bale, there's a New Holland that can do the job faster, better and at lower cost. By CYNTHIA LOWRY

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y., June 26 (AP)—This is the time of gardening year when there are so many different things to be done that unless you have the concentration, powers of a Yogi, it's easy to spend most of the time contemplating the wide variety of chores rather than getting any of them done.

First comes a short period of consultation with my 51-an-hour high school boy whose job is mowing the lawn, keeping the hedge in trim.

I disapprove heartily of importing foreign labor for my yardwork but concluded that chasing a power mower for a couple of hours of a shiny weekend day and wearing myself out clipping the hedge were two boring tasks which I could dispense with in the interests of more interesting tasks.

I've tried outside assistance before. A few years back, I hired an expensive father-son team of gardeners who were experts, but in a couple of weeks my garden began to slip away from me and assume definite Sicilian characteristics. They had their own ideas about what gardens should look like.

Another year, an eager young man neatly weeded my garden by hand, leaving a few Siberian iris and magnificent groupings of healthy plantain, horse nettle and Gill-over-the-ground.

The plants enjoyed a mild winter, but so did the insects and

ANHYDROUS AMMONIA DOES IT—L. W. Hester, of Walker, Mo., displays corn which got 80 pounds of anhydrous ammonia per acre and is 18 inches taller than other corn planted at the same time. The anhydrous ammonia was used after the corn was planted but before it had come up in the 40-acre field. "For 20 years prior to the time I purchased this land," said Hester, "it did not grow enough crops to pay taxes."

Livestock Trend Suggests Feed Need

Whatever adjustments may be needed in crop acreage in the near future, livestock trends indicate continuing strong demand for feed.

This, in the opinion of Clyde A. Zehner, chairman of the Pennsylvania Production and Marketing Administration committee, is the conclusion that may be drawn from a recent US Department of Agriculture report on livestock trends. The report indicates that, based on past cycles, the current upswing in cattle numbers which started in 1919 still has some time to go. In the five similar cycles since 1880 each upswing has continued from six to eight years. If the current cycle runs six years, cattle numbers will reach a peak in 1955.

The report shows that in the past 80 years the trend in cattle numbers has been upward: from around 30 million head in 1870 to nearly 94 million head on Jan. 1 of this year.

Even though hog numbers are currently down somewhat, this is more than offset by the increase in cattle. And this, as the chairman interprets it, means a continuing increase in the need for feed with emphasis on pasture, range, concentrates and fattening grains.

pests. Never, I think, have I seen such a fine crop of slugs and cut worms as flourished during our very wet Spring. I've been putting out poison bait at the base of what are apparently favorite plants, particularly iris.

There's no point in setting out the bait when the weather threatens, for the poison washes out in a rain and the result is merely better-fed slugs and cut worms.

Farmers Co-operate In Reporting Wheat Acreages to County

More than 1600 farmers co-operated with the local Farm reporters to report their wheat acreages in order to have equitable allotments in event that national wheat acreage allotments are proclaimed.

This information is being collected and assembled in order that the Secretary of Agriculture can carry out the law on all allotment programs. This legislation directs him to ascertain and proclaim marketing quotas not later than July 1, and acreage allotments without marketing quotas by July 15 unless dispensed with by the secretary because of a national emergency or a material increase in exports.

The secretary has stated that he will make no final decision on 1954 wheat allotments until the latest information on our present crop is available. The national acreage allotment for 1954 will be that acreage which at the national average yield will produce enough wheat plus the carry-over and import for a normal year's domestic consumption and exports plus 30 percent. This is apportioned among the states and then among the counties in the states according to average acreage seeded to wheat during the ten preceding years.

Under the allotment program, only producers who plant within their wheat acreage allotment would be eligible for price supports at full 90 percent parity.

But ONLY recently have we come to a fuller understanding of the manifold benefits of the practice (1) in adding organic matter to the soil, (2) reducing soil erosion, (3) in helping maintain soil fertility through addition of organic matter and nitrogen, and retention of mineral elements, (4) in improvement of the mechanical condition of the soil, and (5) in furnishing a better medium for beneficial soil organisms.

The practice of using cover crops for green manure by turning them under while green is almost as old as agriculture itself.

Green Manure Maintains Soil Fertility

Nature does a good job in maintaining soil fertility without help from man, especially in protecting the soil from erosion and restoring organic matter.

Foliage Gives Sign Trees Need Help

If anything's ailing your trees, now's the time they'll begin to show obvious symptoms.

There are many significant signs that all's not well with arboreal friends. Since the most rugged part of the Summer season still lies ahead, it's good sense to make sure pet trees will have the growing vigor necessary to carry them through with flying colors and fluttering greenery.

Actually determining what's wrong is not easy. Usually only the professional tree man can diagnose and prescribe properly. M. R. Foster, field representative of a tree expert company, points out the complexity of symptoms and ills is enough to keep the arboreal specialist on his toes.

Take just two phases of investigation—sparseness or wilting of foliage and excessive dead wood.

Leaf-sparseness may be due to poor soil, disease, drought, girdling roots and other reasons. Wilting may stem from insufficient soil moisture, internal infection and borers in the cambium. Excessive dead wood can indicate virus or fungous infections,

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Committees Named for School Picnic

The general chairman and various committees were named for the annual picnic of Trinity Union Sunday school, Bechtelsville, to be held Saturday, July 25, on the Bechtelsville athletic field grounds.

The Pottstown band, under the direction of William F. Lamb Jr., will furnish music during the evening.

Daniel A. Rohrbach, Sunday school superintendent, has appointed the following committee chairmen to make all necessary preparations for the picnic.

Two Churches Sate Communion Services

Summer Holy Communion services will be conducted in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Evangelical and Reformed, Boyertown, and Trinity Evangelical Congregational church, Boyertown, throughout the day tomorrow.

Dinner Meeting Is Held By Berks Tax Collectors

Walter A. Benfield, Huffs church, president of the Berks county Tax Collectors' association, served as master of ceremonies at the annual dinner meeting held on Thursday night at Frank Reeser's restaurant, near Reading.

Jesse R. Yoder, Boyertown RD 1, furnished the 47 dinner guests with accordion music. The guest speaker was the Rev. Clarence R. Rahn who gave a talk on "Keeping Going."

Special guests at the dinner were Berks county commissioners Raymond De Turck, Enoch Roth, and Charles S. Adams.

Diesel Fails to Scrap Iron Work Horse

PITTSBURGH, June 26 (AP)—Conversion to diesel-locomotives does not mean the old type iron horse — the steam engine — is headed for the scrap pile. Not by a long shot.

The Pennsylvania railroad expects to use the steam engine in reserve for use in the greater Pittsburgh area as a helper engine.

By early next year, the PRR's dieselization program will be complete with oil-fired locomotives in use 98 percent of the time for passenger service, 88 percent in freight and 85 percent in yard service.

US-Canada Border Peace Personified by Twin Towns

THE TWIN BORDER CITIES—St. Stephen (left) and Calais

By CHARLES J. LAZARUS
(Central Press Correspondent)

CALAIS-ST. STEPHEN, U.S. CANADA, June 26 — It was a toss-up whether this story should carry the dateline of St. Stephen, New Brunswick, or Calais, Maine, so to keep everybody happy, the names of both towns are being used.

It's just as well, perhaps, because this is not only a story of both communities, but also an object lesson of how two great democracies can live peacefully side by side, and where more than lip service is paid to the phrase "undefended border."

The towns lie on opposite sides of the St. Croix river, which is the international border at this point, and while they have separate charters, and the respective citizenries are loyal to two different flags, they might as well be one.

It's a standing joke now among the folk of St. Stephen and Calais, to refer to their joint townships as St. Calaisphen.

The reason for this is that both communities are so closely intertwined, that they share each other's hospitals and fire-fighting equipment. They almost share each other's citizenship, too, by the fact that everyone from the Boy Scouts to the military personnel that happens to be stationed nearby, also celebrate the holidays of both countries.

AS FAR as the school kids living in St. Stephen and Calais are concerned, they wouldn't want to live anywhere else on earth. They have time off from their studies for Victoria Day; the birthday of their regaining sovereignty (in this case, Queen Elizabeth); and Dominion Day (those are the statutory Canadian holidays).

Then there are the American holidays like Lincoln's birthday, Washington's birthday, Memorial Day, Independence Day and Columbus Day. To all of these add the so-called "joint" holidays like Christmas and New Year, Easter and Labor Day, and Thanksgiving.

The close relationship between the natives of these two American and Canadian communities, grew out of a decision back in 1812 that no matter how the war went, their policy would be strictly one of neutrality. In fact the War of 1812, brought about one of the most amusing incidents in the history of the two countries.

It seems that when the fighting broke out, Canada feared that the St. Stephen district would be come a scene of bloody fighting, and sent along a supply of gun powder just in case.

THE NEUTRALITY agreement, naturally precluded any fighting, and the gunpowder just lay in storage, gathering dust, if that were possible.

Some year's later, when the people of Calais wanted to celebrate their independence from the British on July 4, they found themselves without fireworks. So a use was finally found for the wasting gunpowder: It was handed over to the Americans so that they could celebrate their Independence Day.

Naturally, out of this close relationship came many mutual benefits. Today, the two fire departments help each other when needed; teachers and ministers and athletic coaches are active in institutions in the opposite towns; and expectant American mothers give birth to their offspring in the Chipman Memorial hospital in St. Stephen. About one-third of the Chipman babies are born to American mothers.

Not to be overlooked is the reason why this communal spirit exists between Calais and St. Stephen even to this day. Lying so close to each other, inter-marriage has been common.

St. Stephen was founded by the United Empire Loyalists, those American colonists who moved across the river into New Brunswick in order to maintain their loyalty to George III.

Today, the early intermarriages have broadened into huge family circles which are proud of the loyalty. Businessmen, meanwhile, make the most of these close relationships and folks here pay for their merchandise in the currency of both countries—always at par on both sides of the St. Croix river at Calaisphen.

In the early days of oil production, a "gusher" or well which spouted oil all over the neighborhood was hailed as a triumph by a producer, but today, the producer who fails to control the oil coming from a new well considers the result something of a disgrace.

Obituaries

MARIE C. CRESWELL, 47, of 370 SPRUCE STREET, daughter of H. Clifford Creswell, Pottstown school director, and sister of J. Max Creswell, former borough councilman, died Thursday night of a heart attack.

Industrial nurse at Spicer Manufacturing division's plant for the past six years, Miss Creswell was at Pottstown Community camp, Earlville, when she was stricken. This would have been her third season as the camp's registered nurse.

She was taken by Boyertown Community ambulance to Pottstown hospital, where she was pronounced dead on arrival.

Born in Reading, daughter of H. Clifford and the late Edna (Longsdorf) Creswell, she came to Pottstown with her family when 5 years old. She was graduated from Pottstown High school in 1921 and the Allentown General hospital's school of nursing in 1927.

From the Allentown hospital she came to Pottstown hospital as clinical instructor.

For several years, she was nurse at Devereux school, Devon, then during World War II was industrial nurse for four years at Doehler-Jarvis corporation's plant.

Miss Creswell was a member of First Presbyterian church.

Surviving are her father, 370 Spruce street, and eight brothers and sisters:

J. Max, 61 North York street; Lois, at home; Grace, wife of Wallace Secord, 349 Union street; Janet, wife of Richard Missimer, 9 West Fifth street; Saylor L. Jeffersonville; R. Newman, 1010 Schuykill road, Kenilworth; Jeanne, wife of Dr. Joseph T. Zukoski, 216 Beech street, and Doris, wife of Russell Ferre, Reiffitt.

Services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from a funeral home at 711 North Franklin street. Officiating will be the Rev. A. Burtis Hallock Jr., pastor of First Presbyterian church, and the Rev. Arthur H. Simpson, pastor emeritus.

Interment will be made in Highland Memorial park.

Nurse's Car Damaged In 3-Car Collision Near Parkerford

A Pottstown hospital student nurse and a North Evans street car collided in a three-car traffic pileup on Route 83, near Parkerford, late yesterday afternoon.

Delores Kalil, 417 Gay street, Royersford, was unable to stop her car in time to prevent hitting a car operated by Charles R. Sminkey, 467 North Evans street.

Miss Kalil and Sminkey were among a string of four autos going south on Route 83.

It all happened when the first car, traveling at approximately 35 miles per hour, stopped to make a right turn into the private lane of a farm. The car in front of Sminkey braked to a halt. Sminkey hit his brakes and stopped on the hot highway, but Miss Kalil was unable to halt her 1953 sedan and piled into Sminkey. The impact drove Sminkey into the car in front of him.

THERE WAS NO damage to the second car in line. Sminkey submitted his name and left the scene. There was approximately $150 damage to Miss Kalil's sedan. Corp. James F. Updyke and Pfc. Gerard F. Robinson of the Pott state police investigated. The accident took place at 3 p. m.

Any New Meeting With Korea's Rhee Will Be Held After Truce, Dulles Says

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today that any new, high level meeting that President Eisenhower may propose to South Korean President Rhee will be held after and not before an armistice goes into effect.

The secretary announced this at the White House in an unusual effort to clear up what he termed "warped" reports which followed Eisenhower's discussion of the Korean situation yesterday at luncheon with Republican and Democratic senators.

These reports, which came from senatorial sources and were widely published said that Eisenhower was willing to send an official in the US Government to meet Rhee outside Korea in an effort to win Rhee over to the proposed Korean truce, at which he has balked.

Some of the senators who attended the luncheon were still insisting tonight, despite Dulles' explanation, that according to their understanding of Eisenhower's remarks, he did not specify a post-truce conference in his luncheon conversation yesterday.

THE SENATORIAL information was first given out yesterday shortly before Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson, special American envoy, was holding his first meeting with Rhee in Seoul, for the same purpose of trying to break the deadlock.

Dulles and other Administration officials obviously were concerned lest the reports should sabotage Robertson's mission at the start.

Dulles told newsmen that Eisenhower, in speaking with the senators of a possible meeting with Rhee had in mind a conference to be held after an armistice but before the political conference which is projected for 90 days later. The secretary added that if such a meeting was held, a subordinate official and not President Eisenhower would represent the United States.

Dulles added that the State department would have a statement on the situation later in the day. But this idea was given up when it was decided that the secretary himself had made clear the Administration's stand.

Officials said the idea of a new meeting with Rhee came up at the White House luncheon when President Eisenhower was asked how it would be possible to work out a settlement with Rhee, in view of the manner in which he wrecked the prospects for an immediate truce with the Communists by denouncing the armistice terms and freeing more than 25,000 anti-Communist prisoners. Authorities said that the President's response was

LINER CAPTAIN TELLS OF TERROR

Ex-Batory Skipper Reveals He Was Marked For Prison

LONDON, June 26 (AP)—Jan Cwiklinski, captain of the Polish liner Batory who jumped his ship, in England, said today Poland is still a land of Communist terror and "nothing has changed since Stalin's death."

The ruggedly-built, 53-year-old captain calmly told a conference of carefully screened newsmen that he had been secretly warned by friends he would be arrested and tried as a Western spy when the Batory returned to Poland.

"I just left my grip and walked off the ship," he said. He described the Batory as a "floating nest of Communist political officers—ready to inform on anyone and everyone."

Cwiklinski, master of the luxurious liner since 1947, left the Batory at Hebrun-on-Tyne the past week just before she sailed for Gdynia, her home port. He was detained at Brixton prison until yesterday when British officials granted his plea for political asylum.

THE BATORY'S medical officer, Wacław Tacklaer, who made a separate jump to freedom, also has been granted asylum here.

"I feel like a bird from a cage," said Cwiklinski with a smile.

He told a story of an enslaved Polish nation, of wholesale spying and suspicion and fear of the "Midnight knock on the door."

"Life in Poland is as harsh as ever," he said. "Everything is under the rule of the authorities."

Asked if he had seen any evidence of relaxation since Russia's latest "peace offensive" got underway, Cwiklinski replied firmly "nothing has changed since Stalin's death."

Even so, he said, "the spirit of resistance is still very much alive in Poland. It's a country with a great tradition of liberty."

DEFENDED—A South Korean woman fights a cigaret for one of the escaped anti-Communist North Korean war prisoners, freed in the mass escape of 27,000, as he sits with two comrades in a household haven in Pusan. The escaped prisoners scattered across the countryside and were taken into Korean homes by South Korean families at the urging of President Syngman Rhee.

Most Wanted Fugitive Trapped by Police in Ladies' Room

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP)—One of the FBI's ten most wanted fugitives was seized today in a ladies' washroom masquerading as a woman.

He is Isaac Aldy Beausoleil, 46, listed by the FBI as one of the Nation's "most wanted" persons. A policeman seized Beausoleil in the washroom of a North Side beach where he had been called by the manager. He offered no resistance.

The manager said he had become suspicious of Beausoleil's husky build. Police said that underneath his dress the fugitive wore a bathing suit and falsies.

BEAUSOLEIL HAD been sought since August, 1949, after the bludgeoned body of Rose Trahan of Danielson, Conn., was found in a ditch in London township, Monroe County, Mich. Police said the woman's head had been crushed with a heavy instrument.

The FBI office in Chicago said that in addition to the murder charge, Beausoleil is wanted on Federal charges of illegal entry into the United States and unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

The body of the Trahan woman was found Aug. 17, 1949. Detective Chief John T. O'Malley, said Beausoleil, a native of Simcoe, Ontario, Canada, entered the United States from Canada illegally in 1946, met the woman in East Lansing, Mich., in 1947. He made frequent trips to Michigan to see the woman while employed by a Chicago manufacturing firm from 1947 to 1949.

O'Malley said the fugitive was married to Catherine Schenk, 46, in 1950. They lived together in Chicago until three months ago when she recognized his picture in a newspaper which described him as one of the FBI's ten most wanted men and he left town, O'Malley said.

O'Malley said Beausoleil returned to Chicago three weeks ago and began masquerading as a woman to avoid detection.

POLICE SAID Beausoleil first entered the United States from Canada in 1946. They gave this background on his activities:

In 1921 he was fined for bootlegging liquor. In 1929 he was sentenced to five to ten years in the New York State penitentiary for attempted robbery. He escaped from the prison honor farm in 1931.

The same year he was sentenced to 20 years in the Rhode Island State penitentiary for a robbery in Providence. Released in 1943, he was deported to Canada.

Beausoleil denied any connection with the Trahan killing. Police said he insisted he was vacationing in Cleveland at the time.

At the height of the controversy, which grew to international proportions, the French Prime and the Grand Rabbi of France signed a compromise accord providing for the boys to live on the estate of wealthy Andrew Weill at Saint Leonard, near Senlis, until they are 21 and can choose for themselves which religion they wish to embrace. Mrs. Rosner, who approved of the accord, will take up residence with the boys on the Weill estate. The boys are to be free from outside religious influence during their stay with Weill, according to the agreement.

The court order had been fought bitterly by Antoinette Brun, a large jolly Roman Catholic keeper of an orphanage in Grenoble, with whom the boys had been left by their Austrian parents, Dr. and Mrs. Fritz Finaly, when they were fleeing Nazi persecution during World War II.

His cabinet probably will include some De Gaulleists and a number of former premiers. He hoped to have his ministers approved by President Vincent Auriol by tomorrow evening.

The Assembly, which had fused and fused for more than five weeks in France's most extended post-war crisis, confirmed Laniel almost casually by a 398 to 206 tally. He only needed 314 votes.

WITH HIS FATHER, Laniel has held the same seat in the Assembly for 57 years. In all his 21 years in the Assembly he has collected many friends and few enemies. Concerned almost entirely with financial and economic problems, he has never been known in all that time to make a speech on foreign policy.

He did nothing in his short, modest speech to the Assembly today to stir up trouble. He did not attempt to delve deeply into France's problems or explain what specific solutions he proposed.

Kennerly, who is built like a jockey, promptly started chasing the robber and screaming "Police" at the top of his lungs.

The fleet ancient's hot pursuit so unnerved the thief that he dropped the loot and disappeared into an alley.

Kennerly retrieved the sack and went on about his business.

BERLIN WORKERS STAGE LOYALTY TO REDS MARCH

Russian Rifleman Guard Government Building Just in Case

BERLIN, June 26 (AP)—Thousands of workers marched under red banners in a thunderstorm in East Berlin today in a rigged demonstration of loyalty to their East German Government.

A ring of Soviet rifleman in steel helmets about the Government headquarters on Wilhelmstrasse—target of the bloody June 17 revolt—guaranteed that the demonstration would not backfire as did a similar parade the past week when the workers raised cries that "Ivan go home" and let them hold free elections.

Today's parade, which perhaps was a prelude to lifting martial law, was matched by an intense flurry of diplomatic activity which stirred speculation that Russia was on the eve of a new move for a Four-Power settlement of the German question.

Maj. Gen. P. T. Dibrova, Soviet military commander, said tonight he was reducing the East Berlin curfew from six to four hours (11 p. m. to 3 a. m. local time). Observers said this apparently foreshadowed a complete lifting of martial law by early next week.

THE US HIGH commission issued a statement describing the Wilhelmstrasse demonstration as a "dismal failure." It said the small crowd was composed mainly of Red-led German Youth (FDJ) and railroad employees.

Soviet high commissioner Vladimir Semenyov was reported to have received fresh instructions from Moscow.

The three Allied high commissioners left Bonn in special trains to hold a meeting in the French sector here tomorrow—close enough for Semenyov to join them in a Four-Power session if he desires.

An Allied aid said, "there's just a chance that there'll be a fourth (Semenyov)" at the meeting. The Russian belatedly cleared away protocol obstacles to such a session the past week by notifying the Allies that he had taken over civil occupation authority in the East zone from Gen. Vassily Chuikov.

Beausoleil denied any connection with the Trahan killing. Police said he insisted he was vacationing in Cleveland at the time.

Guards Nip Anti-Red POWs' Escape

PUSAN, Korea, Saturday, June 27 (AP)—An escape attempt by anti-Red North Korean war prisoners yesterday was nipped by US guards at the cost of two prisoners killed and one wounded. There were no guard casualties, officers said.

The UN prisoner of war command said prisoners in one enclosure at Camp No. 2 near Pusan tried twice to break out shortly after midnight. Both attempts failed. The UN command did not say how many of the approximately 600 prisoners in the compound were involved.

But at another camp, No. 7, near Masan, five anti-Red POWs made good an escape shortly before last midnight, the UN said without giving any details.

The incidents were minor compared with the escape the past week of 27,000 anti-Red North Koreans from the camps, with an assist from South Korean guards acting under the orders of President Syngman Rhee.

SINCE THEN, American units have taken over the guard posts from the South Koreans. Suspicious movements in Camp No. 2 alerted the Americans to the escape attempt. A group of prisoners was found hiding in a ditch outside the fence.

Senator Willis Smith of North Carolina Dies of Heart Attack at Naval Hospital

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Sen. Willis Smith (D-NC), who won a Senate seat in 1950 in a torrid campaign in which he lambasted such Truman "Fair Deal" measures as the FEPC, died of heart disease today at Bethesda Naval hospital. He was 65.

SENATOR SMITH

Smith, a former president of the American Bar association, was stricken with a heart attack yesterday.

In the 1950 contest Smith unseated Senator Frank Graham in a runoff election to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator J. Melville Broughton. Graham, classed by his admirers as a leading liberal, had been appointed to the post by Gov. Kerr Scott.

Smith, who described himself as a conservative, aimed hot fire at such civil rights legislation as the proposed fair employment practices commission. His supporters pictured Graham as a radical and distributed literature seeking to link him closely with Negro organizations.

SMITH ANNOUNCED only recently that he intended to run for a full six-year term next year.

His death cut the Democratic lineup in the Senate to 46, but Gov. William B. Urethard is expected to name another Democrat to succeed him. There are 48 Republicans and one independent in the Senate.

Out of respect to the late senator, the Senate transacted no business today.

Smith, a Raleigh attorney, was appointed early this month as a US representative on the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO). He was an observer at the Nuremberg trials, a US delegate to the interparliamentary union meeting in Istanbul in 1951 and chairman of the US delegation to the same meeting in 1952.

A native of Norfolk, Va., Smith worked his way through Trinity college, now Duke university, and served three terms in the North Carolina legislature, including one as House speaker, before coming to Washington.

Survivors include the widow, Anna Lee Smith, three sons and a daughter. Funeral services will be conducted Sunday in Raleigh.

Harry Truman Blasts Eisenhower's Paring of Nation's Defense Budget

PHILADELPHIA, June 26 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman challenged the Eisenhower Administration's defense budget cuts tonight and said "those who talk about our defense program being too big may be letting their pocketbooks obscure their judgment."

Asserting it is only natural to wish for lower taxes, the former President said:

"But I warn you soberly and plainly: Do not be misled by the desire for lower taxes into cutting corners on our national security."

"Increasing the risk of World War III means increasing the risk of atom bombs on our own homes."

In a speech prepared for the national convention of the Reserve Officers' association—his first formal address since leaving the White House on Jan. 20—Truman declared a "balanced program" of military goals was worked out by the Joint Chiefs of Staff in 1951.

"AND THEY URGED that we try to achieve those targets just as soon as possible after 1954," he said, "because it was about that time that they expected the Soviets to have amassed a stockpile of atomic bombs that would put this country in the gravest kind of danger."

It is "of the highest significance," he said, that Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, retiring Air Force chief of staff, testified recently that "nothing has happened to change the strategic estimate" on which that program was based.

"I am sorry to read, however," he added, "that a great deal has happened to cut that program down."

In mellowed tones that contrasted with some of the bare knuckled speeches he made as President, Truman went on:

"ALL OF US ARE hopeful that there will be a real change—a real transformation—of Soviet policy and its threat to our survival. There have already been some signs of change. But we cannot tell yet what these signs mean."

"As the President has said, our Government sees no reliable evidence of any modification in the fundamental Soviet aim of world domination.

"We can be sure of one thing, in any case. We must be strongly armed, now and as far ahead as we can see. If the Soviets are genuinely interested in real settlements, we must be able to negotiate from strength."

Man, 70, Takes Purse In Foot Race With Boy

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 26 (AP)—Youth lost a $2700 foot race to age today.

Phillip L. Kennerly, 70, was carrying a bag containing the cash when a lanky, youngish bandit approached him from the rear, grabbed the money and fled.

Kennerly, who is built like a jockey, promptly started chasing the robber and screaming "Police" at the top of his lungs.

The fleet ancient's hot pursuit so unnerved the thief that he dropped the loot and disappeared into an alley.

Kennerly retrieved the sack and went on about his business.

LANIEL RECEIVES TOP FRENCH JOB

New Premier Starts to Form Cabinet for Auriol's Approval

PARIS, June 26 (AP)—Joseph Laniel, the eighth candidate for the job, was approved as the new premier of France by the National Assembly today after 37 days of political crisis.

A big hearty man from Normandy, the 63-year-old independent right-of-center politician, immediately set about forming France's 19th cabinet since Gen. Charles De Gaulle marched into Paris at the liberation.

His cabinet probably will include some De Gaulleists and a number of former premiers. He hoped to have his ministers approved by President Vincent Auriol by tomorrow evening.

The Assembly, which had fused and fused for more than five weeks in France's most extended post-war crisis, confirmed Laniel almost casually by a 398 to 206 tally. He only needed 314 votes.

WITH HIS FATHER, Laniel has held the same seat in the Assembly for 57 years. In all his 21 years in the Assembly he has collected many friends and few enemies. Concerned almost entirely with financial and economic problems, he has never been known in all that time to make a speech on foreign policy.

He did nothing in his short, modest speech to the Assembly today to stir up trouble. He did not attempt to delve deeply into France's problems or explain what specific solutions he proposed.

82-Year-Old on Job Despite Cut Received In Utility Pole Crash

An 82-year-old Pottstown man, who drives to work every day as a gardener and caretaker near Linfield, was back on the job yesterday despite the fact his car had crashed into a utility pole late Thursday night.

He is William Snell, 11 Chestnut street, whose old car hit a pole on South Keim just north of the Pennsylvania railroad crossing. He was shaken up and had a cut of the left wrist.

A passenger, 75-year-old Horace U. Shellenberger, 857 South street, had a cut of the left hand requiring nine stitches to close. Shellenberger's wife had a bruised left ankle.

The 82-year-old lives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mentzer. A short time before he came home after the crash, Mrs. Mentzer told her daughter, Vera Nancy, 15, "I think Mr. Snell had an accident."

A FEW MINUTES later, he walked in the door with a bandage on his wrist and a smile on his face. "I had an accident," he announced.

Mrs. Mentzer explained her "woman's intuition" by saying, "I just sort of had a feeling—because he never gets home late unless he tells me."

Before he went to bed early yesterday, he asked Mrs. Mentzer to call him in the morning.

"You can't go to work," Mrs. Mentzer told him.

"Of course, I can," he said, and did.

He was driven by a grandson, James Snell, 15 Walnut street, to the home along Limerick Church road, Pottstown RD 4, of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Croasdale. He works five days a week there as gardener and caretaker.

"HE REALLY STEPS right around," Mrs. Croasdale said. "On hot days, I tell him he should get out of the sun and rest. He just laughs."

Mrs. Mentzer said she believed Snell had been driving 60 years and this was only his third mishap. She said, "Once in 20 years—you really can't complain about that."

Snell and the Shellenbergers were returning from a North Coventry Grange meeting when he was blinded by an oncoming car. His car grazed the oncoming car before hitting the pole.

The front of his car, although it was traveling at its usual slow speed, was damaged extensively in the collision with the pole. The injured were given dispensary treatment in Memorial hospital. There was no police investigation asked.

ACTION ASKED —

not "white elephants." Mrs. James B. Goggins, 1061 Park drive, told The Mercury last night "Right now the lots are full of weeds. It is not nice for the children to be down there."

"We were under the impression on the drive that the three areas would be made into playgrounds. That's what we were told when we bought our homes."

MRS. GOGGINS is the mother of three small children, 8 and 5 years and eight months.

Mrs. Grier F. Schwoyer, 1075 Park drive, asserted, "I really think it would be wonderful if something could be done with those lots. The weeds are higher than half the kids who play there."

"I called the borough manager about two weeks ago and told him I had read in the paper about the $100 fine for failure to cut weeds. I talked to Davidheiser Monday night and he told me if the people along the drive would form an association he would gladly give the lots to them."

"I haven't heard any more about the association, but both my husband and I thought it would be a good idea."

As for the lots I believe they would require a layer of top soil before anything could be done with them. There's only red shale there now."

HER HUSBAND asserted, "it wouldn't cost too much to maintain the lots once they are put in shape. One question puzzles me. If we should form an association, who would pay the taxes?"

When Mrs. Schwoyer spoke about the $100 fine for failure to cut weeds, she was referring to the amended weed ordinance passed by council at the June 8 session.

Other drive residents have thought about a community effort to clear the lots, but no positive move has been made to create a playground association.

Mrs. Henry R. Knopp, 1078 Park drive, said, "Something should be done. We really have nothing but weeds on the lots now."

"I know we were told those areas had been set aside for playground purposes when we bought our homes, but I really never knew who was going to make and maintain them as playgrounds. Mr. Davidheiser or the borough."

MRS. JOSEPH HOVANEC, 1056 Park drive, reported, "When we moved here Mr. Davidheiser said the lots would be playgrounds. We didn't ask for further information. He really referred to them as parks."

"There are a lot of weeds there now, but I really don't think it would cost too much to convert the places into playgrounds."

Mrs. Robert Mauger, 965 Park drive, said, "We think playgrounds on the lots would be wonderful. Most of the people who live here are young couples who have small children."

Mrs. Hovanec and Mrs. Mauger both said the neighbors had talked about a co-operative effort among homeowners to clear lots, but community action has not progressed beyond the talking stage.

A HOMEOWNER who did not disclose his identity said, "Frankly I would rather see homes go up on the lots than turn them over to the borough. The borough is not financially able to put them in playground condition."

"When we bought these homes we were led to believe the playgrounds would go along with the whole plan. We also were told streets would be built in front of our homes. Now we have learned differently. I think we were given a bad deal out here all the way around."

Wyoming Preacher To Give Address At Area Church

A Wyoming preacher who traveled the route of the pioneers in reverse will be guest speaker at 10:45 a. m. services in Bethel Methodist church, East Coventry township, tomorrow.

Instead of going west by covered wagon, the Rev. Reginald F. Goff, pastor of the Worland, Wyoming, Methodist church, came east by house trailer.

The Rev. Goff arrived in Pennsylvania this week as a delegate to the World Convocation of Evangelism being held by the Methodist Church in Philadelphia.

Like the pioneers of old, the western pastor brought his wife and two children along with him in the 15-foot trailer.

A NATIVE of Canada, the Rev. Goff is a veteran of eight years in the Utah mission and ten years as pastor of his present charge.

"If I Had My Life to Live Over Again," will be his sermon theme at the Bethel service.

Again, like the pioneers, the Wyoming pastor recently helped erect a new church and parsonage in the western town where his charge is located.

He is also chairman of the Western and National boards of Evangelism of the Methodist Church.

The one she wants most to take herself would be a grand circle of the Far West and Northwest.

"That," she said, "is my idea of a real trip. But if I ever take it, I wouldn't want to have to set a time limit or a money limit."

Such a grand tour of America should take ten weeks, she estimated, although some ambitious Pottstonians are going to try to make it in five.

As to what she's really going to do on her vacation this Summer, she said, "I'm going to stay home. I'm going to rest."

She amended this by saying that every other year she visits relatives in Oklahoma. This year it's the relatives' turn to come East.

Certificates of attendance were presented to pupils at the closing exercises last night, which were attended by 175 persons.

BALTZELL EUB, First Presbyterian, First Methodist and First Baptist, had enrolments of 96, 75, 70 and 121 respectively.

"Our school this year was the best ever," the Rev. John L. Smoker, pastor of Baltzell church remarked.

A party for the Baltzell pupils was held at the church after the last school session yesterday, followed by refreshments.

Some of the schools that closed yesterday will have their graduation exercises during services in the churches tomorrow.

These include St. Paul's Walnut and Penn street Reformed, Trinity Evangelical Congregational and New Hanover Lutheran.

AT ST. PAUL'S, which has 70 children enrolled, the exercises will take place at the 10:20 a. m. Sunday school session.

The St. Paul's pupils held a picnic in Manatwamy park yesterday afternoon after their final session.

Trinity Evangelical and New Hanover Lutheran pupils will graduate at 7:30 o'clock exercises tomorrow night.

Other Pottstown vacation schools included St. John's Lutheran, South Pottstown, which held sessions for one week only, but eroded a record number of pupils in that time.

St. Peter's Lutheran, Stowe, and Trinity Reformed schools held exercises yesterday after closing exercises on Thursday night.

Patient at Hospital Injured in Accident

Five-hundred dollars damage and a gashed forehead were the results of sedan-convertible collision on Charlestown road near Phoenixville early last night.

John N. Coccio, 28, Phoenixville, was driving his 1946 sedan north on Charlestown road, near Valley Forge Army hospital when a 1952 hardtop convertible, driven by Capt. Cloyd H. Johnson, 41, a patient at Valley Forge hospital, collided with his car from the rear.

Corp. James F. Updyke and Pfc. Gerard F. Robinson estimated damage to the sedan at $350 and damage to the convertible at $150.

The captain was treated at the hospital for a cut on the forehead.

The accident took place at 6 o'clock.

101-Year-Old Preacher Will Speak Tomorrow

A Baptist pastor who is said to be 101 years old will preach in Pottstown tomorrow.

He is the Rev. Dr. J. C. King, pastor of Second Baptist church, Frankfort.

With the choir and congregation of his church, Dr. King will visit Second Baptist church here, where he will speak at the Christian Crusaders first anniversary service at 3 p. m.

Members of Second Baptist who have heard him preach say that he is "very forceful" in his delivery.

Playground Registration of 912 Shows Boys, Girls Sign Up in Equal Numbers

There shouldn't be any romantic difficulties at Pottstown's playgrounds this Summer.

According to official figures on the two-day registration period that ended yesterday, exactly 456 boys and 456 girls have signed up for the eight-week fun fest.

Mrs. Florence Manthorne, director of playgrounds, gave this breakdown of figures: Franklin 110; Happy Hill, 53; Hillcrest 53; Jefferson 83; Lincoln 49; Memorial park, 117; Rupert 112; St. Clair 98; tot lot 67; Washington 50; Brookside 123.

Around the playgrounds, various events were notable. At Brookside's treeless, shaded area, the youngsters returned to their color crayons after several active games only to find them melted heaps.

AT MEMORIAL, Richard Kicketts and his two sons, Dave and Dick, are painting the splash pool. Lincoln playground has already organized its softball team and has started a challenge of other clubs. The playgrounds open their official program on Monday at 9 a. m.

Although a total of 912 youngsters have registered at the playgrounds to date, this figure is far from the total of 1700 registrants who signed up the past year.

Facilities for caring for the influx of youngsters are adequate even though the past year's figure is reached. Robert A. Reis, recreation director said last night.

"There are two leaders for nearly every playground in town, and by the looks of things we should have no difficulty in keeping the program moving," he added.

On playgrounds where there is no shade, Reis said, he and the other staff members are planning to install canvas canopies over sandboxes and tables. Before this is done, however, there "are other things that must be taken care of first," he explained.

companied by scattered afternoon thundershowers today and tomorrow.

A temperature high of 84 is predicted for Western New York with partly cloudy skies and less humidity.

Yesterday, Pottstown sweated through its third hottest day of the year. Between 9 a. m. and 1 p. m. the temperature jumped ten degrees, from a mild 70 to a hot 80 degrees.

The mercury reached a high of 93 by 3:30 p. m. and didn't give any indication of dropping below the 90 mark until 7 p. m.

It was clear all day, and a cool breeze brought some relief to perspiring Pottstonians.

Today's outlook calls for partly cloudy skies and not so warm, with a high temperature in the 80's.

Cloudiness will continue tomorrow and it should get warmer. There also is a chance of scattered afternoon thundershowers.

Nuptials Scheduled For Actress, Doctor

HOLLYWOOD, June 26 (AP) — A Cardinal, a beautiful movie actress, and a young doctor will be the stars tomorrow in one of Hollywood's most impressive weddings in years.

James Francis Cardinal McIntyre will conduct the nuptial mass at 10 a. m. for brunette Ann Blyth, 24, and Dr. James McNulty, 33, brother of singer Dennis Day.

The ceremony at St. Charles Catholic church in North Hollywood will be attended by 600 friends of the couple, including Jack Benny, Bob Hope, Joan Crawford, Lou Costello, Piper Laurie, Edmund Gwenn and Ricardo Montalban. The invitation list, will swell to 800 for the wedding breakfast at the Beverly Hills hotel.

Although many famous names will be attending the wedding, there will be a larger number of less noted studio co-workers of the actress. Also at the ceremony will be a score of Roman Catholic clergy, several dozen medical associates of the bridegroom and 27 members of the McNulty family.

Truck, Car Damaged In High Street Crash

The rear end of a Connecticut-owned club coupe and the front bumper of a Pottstown People's Market truck were damaged in a High and Charlotte streets accident early last night.

Coupe operator Henry J. Fiengo, Bethany, Conn., told Desk Sgt. Russel B. Hummel he was proceeding west on High street, stopped for traffic and was struck from the rear by the truck, driven by Daniel Gerber.

Gerber, who reported to borough hall with Fiengo, gave a similar account of the accident.

The rear end of the coupe and the front bumper of the truck was damaged.

The accident took place at 7:45 o'clock.

One-Room Schoolhouses Disappear As 3 Are Sold With 7 to Go Today

The era of the one-room schoolhouse in East and West Vincent townships is rapidly coming to a close.

First step in this direction was taken yesterday when three such schools were sold on the auction block in West Vincent township for a total of $16,000.

Seven more of the one-room schools in East Vincent township will be sold at public auction this afternoon at Locust Grove.

Nearly 100 persons were on hand to hear Auctioneer Ralph D. Martz, of Spring City, rap his gavel at 1 p. m. to start the bidding.

THE FIRST school to go on sale was the Chestnut Grove school.

And when the gavel came down for the third time, the building went to Mrs. Catherine Derriekson, of Downingtown, for $6500. Mrs. Derriekson later said she plans to convert the schoolhouse into a home.

Next on the block was the two-story Birchrunville school. Auctioneer Martz started the bidding at 2 o'clock on this school. A short while later he announced John Hoffman, of Kenneth-Square, the highest bidder, and the building was sold for $1600.

At 3 o'clock the St. Andrew's school was auctioned off for $5700. This building also went to Hoffman. Hoffman said the Birchrunville school will be made into an apartment, and

ESCAPING GAS CHASES WOMAN OUT OF FLAT

Hilldale Housewife Is Forced to Flee Heavy Fumes

Refrigerator gas chased a Hilldale apartment housewife into the street yesterday afternoon and firemen rushed to her aid.

Mrs. Annie Pauls, of Apt. 3A, Road A, Hilldale, was startled around 4:15 p. m. yesterday when she said she smelled the gas filling her kitchen.

She explained she was washing dishes at the time. Noticing the odor, she dropped everything and ran across the street to her neighbor, Mrs. Joyce Hall, of Apt. 2C, Road A.

Acting upon the advice of her neighbor, Mrs. Pauls telephoned the Sanatoga Fire company. Company apparatus hurried to the scene.

THREE firemen accompanying the truck, Joseph Taggart, driver; Jock Rutter, assistant engineer, and William Beacraft, found the kitchen filled with the refrigerator gas.

The trio carried the refrigerator outside of the building. Firemen then warned Mrs. Pauls not to use the unwrapped food which was in the refrigerator because escaping gas may have been poisonous.

The refrigerator, Mrs. Pauls said, contained an order fresh from the market. Most of it was unwrapped, she added.

Group Returns After Trip Through Western States

DOUGLASSVILLE — Clyde E. Carr, corr., Phone Birdsboro 2-5116, Frank Wunderlich, del., Phone Birdsboro 2-4603.

Mr. John Klein, local garage man and radio distributor has returned home from attending the Philco dealers convention which was held in Atlantic City, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cook and daughter, Linda, have recently returned home from an extensive trip which took them throughout the West. They visited the brother of Mrs. Cook who resides in Arizona. They were gone about four weeks.

'Hot Rodders' Slate Race at Hopewell

"Hot rods" will take part in a Reliability Run at Hopewell Village tomorrow.

The hot rod drivers are members of the Eastern Customs Car-association, an organization with 100 members which has received a charter from the State.

The "reliability run" is a "race" over a marked-off route, kept secret until race time, against existing conditions.

Ambrose Lucidi, 43 King street, president of the club, pointed out that all speed zones are strictly, the drivers isn't finished. "Altogether he has to use hand signals, and spent $800 on parts for the car."

Policemen Seek Action

Lorrin Leuthold had received a raise this year.

Strange and Gulden then agreed that it had been given by mistake.

Smoyer's final appeal stated that it would mean only $600 to raise the salaries of the six men who are completing their second year to the level of the two other "two-year" men.

Smoyer then asked Peter Lawler what he thought of the arguments of both sides.

"If a promise was made I think I'd rectify the situation," he said.

"Well, eight men can't all have the wrong impression. We were told that we'd get those annual increases," Smith said.

The two officers then brought up a point that shone clear in the foggy argument.

Strange argued that the men had received more than they promised $150 raise when they were given a $200 flat increase that all borough employees received.

"That's not true," Smoyer reasoned. "You gave all the men a $200 raise. All the men didn't have a $150 raise promised them. So those of us who were supposed to get $150, actually only were getting $50 out of that $200 blanket raise. If we'd gotten the $150 raise plus the $200 that all men got, then we'd be okay according to the agreement."

SMITH AGREED. "We got $50 and the men who weren't getting any raises actually got $200."

Strange looked at it from the other angle, however. "Why, you got $150 plus $50," he said.

Smoyer returned to his argument that "any man on the force two years should be getting the same amount of money."

He brought out again the case of the two men who were getting more than he was, though length of service was comparable within several months.

"I TOLD you what was in the book when you joined," Strange insisted, "but now the book has changed. You can't expect the borough to make up a schedule for the next hundred years and then stick to it. It changes from year to year."

"The $200 raise was not a cost of living increase," Strange also pointed out, when the two men kept calling it that, "it was a raise!"

Then Strange said, "I've always tried to get more money for the police. We had a schedule last year. We tried to keep it confidential but it got out. The police shut, opened up. And the highway department heard about it and that put an end to your raises."

Then Strange said, "Speaking for myself, I say there'll be no more raises until January of 1954. That's as far as I'm concerned. That's the resolution we have in effect now."

Smoyer and Smith then brought out that one officer, only on the force a little more than a year, had received a raise just the past March.

"There were no raises given out this year," Strange said.

"I know Leuthold got a raise just this March," Smoyer said.

THE SALARY schedule was dug up by Borough Manager Horace B. Gulden and it showed that

AUTO SMASHES STORE WINDOW

Spring City Accident Occurs When Car's Brakes Fail

An unestimated amount of damage was caused last night when a young driver rammed his car into a drug store show window at 99 North Main street, Spring City.

The driver, Nick Benedetto, 19, of Yeager's trailer camp, Spring City, said he was driving down New street hill when his brakes failed.

He tried to stop his 1948 model convertible but could not, and the next thing he knew he had crashed into a large show window of a cut rate store owned and operated by Paul and Virginia Geunies.

Benedetto said an estimated $700 damage may have been caused to his car. Damage to the store was unestimated by Mrs. Geunies late last night. She said it would be difficult to give an estimate until everything was checked.

The accident occurred at 11:15 o'clock, just about the time when most residents of Spring City were settling down for the night.

The Philologas class of the Evangelical Congregational church met at the home of Mrs. Donald Long in Royersford.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Clark entertained Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kirchner from Fort Worth, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Firth of Norristown.

Lee Clark spent a day in Wildwood, N. J.

Mrs. Horace Clement spent several days visiting her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Turner, in Swarthmore.

Student to Speak

Jeanne Singer, exchange student who studied recently in Switzerland, will speak in Cedarvale Methodist church tomorrow morning during the 10:30 a. m. Sunday school hour.

She will show picture slides of Swiss scenes and describe her experiences there, along with her observations of people and customs.

Chinese Reds Hit ROKs

Junction hills raged through the early morning into daylight hours.

Chinese were bringing up reinforcements to keep up the attack, a front line officer said.

THE OFFICER reported the Chinese were maneuvering ominously north of the battlefield in the rugged hills and valleys where the defenses of the ROK-Fifth division collapsed June 15 and the Chinese scored their biggest gains in two years. This advance by about 30,000 Chinese was at least two miles on a 15-mile front.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, US Army chief of staff, visited the Western front Friday where the ROK First division met the major Chinese attack head on.

It appeared that a vital part of Collins' mission in Korea is to study future courses of military action if no armistice is reached. He was accompanied to the front by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Eighth army commander.

The Reds have been hitting ROK divisions regularly and heavily this month, apparently because of South Korea's bitter opposition to an armistice and threats to fight on alone.

US AND OTHER United Nations units have taken relatively mild blows from the Chinese.

In the air, US Sabre jets shot down two MIGs Friday and damaged another while fighter-bombers swarmed over the battlefield.

The Air Force said 142 fighter-bombers pounded the Chinese division attacking on the Western front Friday while 152 others struck elsewhere along the line.

ARTHUR PAINS GONE!

Mrs. Lizzie F. Hampton, 231 Walnut St., Pottstown, Pa., writes: My husband has been in great pain for a long time. He suffered a lot of pain in his legs and arms and his hands would get numb. He started using Crownhill Mineral Water and after a short period of time he began to lose his pain and stiffness to a very great degree. He is 83 years of age and I think this is a remarkable improvement.

Your Blood Is Needed

TRUCE—and maybe peace—appears that it might be just around the corner. When it does, it will be welcome news for many a Korean soldier. But for many another it won't matter a bit. Thousands of American youth lie gravely wounded in Korean hospitals. Their suffering and pain will have to be endured.

They're the boys you've got to be thinking about when you count blessings this morning. You've got to remember the m when you consider how fortunate you are that you are abiding in a land of plenty, peace and comfort; that you've got the use of your arms and legs.

You can make life a lot more comfortable for those maimed boys in faraway Korean hospitals. You can give them a pint of your blood which you won't even miss but which may mean the difference between life and death for them.

Monday the Red Cross bloodmobile will come to the Pottstown Armory under the auspices of the National Guard. The hours will be from 1 to 6:30 p. m. One hundred donors are needed to fill Pottstown's quota.
Will you, so fortunate to be in Pottstown and happy this morning, provide some happiness for a wounded soldier in Korea?

Call the Red Cross office, 3353, now
Make a date to give a pint of blood.

Approaching the Rent Deadline

FIVE weeks from today, Pottstown, in common with the rest of the nation, will be without federal rent control.

For on July 31 the ceilings will be lifted throughout the length and breadth of the land.
First temptation of the landlord straining at the leash of control will be to unshackle himself and make up for lost income.

Such an attitude will only rush federal rent ceilings back into the picture again.

Be fair and reasonable with your tenant.
Don't raise his rent unless you absolutely have to.

If you have to, don't be a pig. Ten percent has been rated a fair increase by realtors throughout the country. Whatever you do, don't ask your tenants to pay more than that.

But, remember — best of all, don't raise rents at all.

Bible Schools Over

DAILY vacation Bible schools ended two weeks of activity yesterday. Many a to is sorry that the two weeks passed so quickly.
Not only did he enjoy the organized play but he obtained a great deal of spiritual uplift through association with the group.

The Bible schools didn't grow on trees.
They had to be planned carefully and organized faithfully. They had to be conducted with loyalty to purpose and with regard to the whims of the pupils.

The rewards the schools reaped clearly showed that the time and effort was well spent. Our hat is doffed to those who so generously participated in this worthwhile undertaking. They gave unselfishly to bring spiritual light and happiness into the minds of growing children.

Cheating the Scythe

EXPERIMENTAL medial strip barriers on Pennsylvania's turnpike may be the means of saving many lives.

Analyses of fatal accidents on the turnpike have shown that a number of deaths are caused by out-of-control vehicles veering across the medial strip into the opposite lane and crashing head-on into a vehicle headed in the opposite direction.

Barriers, the first of which already have been placed in an experiment, seem a logical answer to pleas for reduced death tolls. Continued erection of these barriers should be encouraged.

Raps Males' Figures; Fears July 4 Traffic

What About Males?

To the Editor: I seem to recall a little while back that some male was complaining about the number of oddlyshaped girls parading in public in brief Summer garments. I also recall that said male recommended that there be a board set up to see that only shapely girls be allowed to dress that way.

Well, after taking a look at some of the men at a local swimming pool recently I'm armed with a rejoinder. I think it's a crime that some of these oddly-shaped men be allowed to wield their spidery or walrus figures, as the case may be, in public.

Can't we make some of them wear Bermuda shorts and jerseys or something?

Pottstown AN EYE FOR AN EYE

Records and Deaths

To the Editor: I see where they expect more cars to be on the road this coming Fourth of July and during the Summer than any time before.

So, some more records will be broken.

This continual breaking of records, I guess, comes from America's spirit of competition. Competition now has such an iron grip it makes most drivers try to beat one another to be the first killed in accidents, just to boost up traffic deaths to new records.

I'm for competition in most cases but I'm not in the race to be another accident statistic. I'm staying home.

Swimming Pool Envisioned

To the Editor: Your paper has done so much to help Pottstown. How about getting behind and pushing the idea of a public swimming pool? While living in Twin Falls, Ida., a small town of only 12,000 people and not one industry to make the town a wealthy one, we had the enjoyment of a clean, beautiful pool.

Surely Pottstown with all its resources, industrial works galore and men who would volunteer their labor, they could have a fine pool after a few Summers of work and campaigning. Let the kids get started with the right leaders and you'll see action.

As a youngster, I did quite a bit of swimming in the Manatawny and have memories of cut feet from the rocky bottom, scummy water during dog days, muddy water when rainy, seeing cut scalps from divine. But all this can be prevented with a modern pool and facilities.

Let's all get behind such a project.
And leave the creeks to the fish.

Asks New Library

To the Editor: Since the borough seems to be getting in a progressive mood these days—new sewers, water pipes, roads—it might be a good time to mention the idea of a municipal library. No progressive, civilized community should be without a municipal library.

A library should not be an institution that depends on handouts for its existence.

Yet that's the way we are running ours. The building itself is a disgrace that would attract no adult. The shelves inside are filled with vintage books from '10's and '20's that nobody ever read even in those days.

It'll never be otherwise unless the borough takes over the responsibility, allocates money in its budget for the purchase of necessary books, and undertakes to build a new building, suitable to the ideals for which a library stands.

Why not a magnificent municipally-owned library building as a war memorial?

Welcomes College Group

To the Editor: Now that the furor over those exaggerated 'teen-age modes of dress is over, I'm glad to see the college crowd back in town with its air of conservatism and chic to lend to the local fashion scene.

Some of these "cool cats" with their big roll collars, pegged pants and suede shoes should get a load of how people who are trying to make something of themselves in the world dress.

Down with pink slacks! White bucks, button-downs and four-buttoned coats forever!!

Bring Rhee to Trial

To the Editor: Syngman Rhee, as a beneficiary of and an ally of the United Nations, has violated its authority and endangered the lives of its soldiery.

If the United Nations is to preserve its authority in cases of outlawry, Syng-man Rhee should be tried before an international tribunal composed of representatives of those countries involved in truce negotiations at Panmunjom.

Only thus can the negotiations of the U. N. be saved from uselessness and ridicule in the future.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

ARNOLD G. is an only child.
"Dr. Crane, we had never sent Arnold to Sunday school," his mother confessed.

"But after reading your column, I finally decided we should get him started."

"So he went for two Sundays and then decided he didn't want to attend any longer. So what should we do now?"

"His Daddy thinks maybe we better wait till Arnold is old enough to decide such things for himself."

Children cannot be relied upon to make correct decisions in all matters, so smart parents must steer them properly.

FOR EXAMPLE, the truant officer doesn't let a child wait till it is in the middle teens to decide whether it wishes to attend public school.

Not on your life! At the age of six,
a child must attend school, and a truant officer is available to make sure this wise rule is obeyed.

In like manner, we don't wait till a child is 15 or 16 before we ask him to make up his mind about brushing his teeth or washing his hands before a meal.

And so it is with reference to moral habits. A child must be urged by diligent parents into doing the right things.
And going to Sunday school is one of these "right" things.

Furthermore, parents should lead their child and thus set a strong positive example before him, by going to Sunday school with the youngster.

It isn't enough for parents to "preach" ethics and moral action. No, they must demonstrate their own belief in such things by their positive action.

IF ARNOLD IS sent into a strange group on Sunday morning, is it any wonder he becomes shy and wishes to stay home?

That is likewise true of public school on opening day. Thousands of children try and try to avoid going back to kindergarten, largely because they are afraid to leave mamma's apron strings.

So a wise mother cushions the shock of this separation by first helping her youngster cultivate friendship with other little boys and girls in the neighborhood.

in terms of furs and pailletted gowns: as

Federal agents are giving the Croton-on-Hudson area the special eye since the Rosenberg case. There's evidence to indicate that any number of well-heeled residents in that neck of the woods are party members in good standing, even though they operate mansions staffed with servants and garages stocked with limos and station wagons.

HOSPITAL ADDITION — Impressive groundbreaking rites for the new addition to the Pottstown hospital were held with Jesse R. Evans, master of ceremonies. The main address was made by Owen Roberts, of Birchrunville, who is a supreme court justice.

FIRE—Loss estimated at $9000 was caused at the lumber yard in Rahns of J. H. Anders. Firemen claim the fire was started by a young boy who pushed straw against a frame building and then set fire to the pile.

LOSES EYE—Pvt. Robert S. Long, 19, Spring City, lost an eye while training at Camp Haan, Cal. He was cut in the optic by a knife while engaged in a drill.

Hollywood

By EDITH GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD, June 26 — Here
we go again! Third time 'round for this pillar is a "parting note" about the Jeff Chandlers, twice denied by him. Jeff has made a move. Meaning

Judy Holliday

Tracy took over. But in August Tracy bows out and Mark Stevens does the series. First though, Mark makes the movie, "Slade", for Allied Artists. Dorothy Malone, fresh in from Texas, is the femme lead. . . . Shed a tear for Pete Lawford, Jack Lemmon, and Judy Holliday who left yesterday for New York. In the crazy eastern heat wave they'll be shooting street scenes for "A Name for Herself"—on a two-week jaunt.

GIVE AN OGLE to the photo of Martine Carol (now the hottest star in France) on page 25 of the June 22 Time. Such cleavage hasn't been seen since the Red Sea parted! (If Steve Crane sees it, he might even call off their upcoming divorce trial!) . . . Good news: That wonderful Ford two-hour anniversary TV program is almost sure to be re-broadcast over at least one major network. It should be "Again and again and again!" . . .
Lana Turner commutes from Rome (where she's making "Flame and the Flesh") to Paris to get her hair dyed every week or so—"it says here!" We don't believe it.
In time and money, it would have been less expensive to have brought the French tressantier to Italy for the film's duration.

AS SOON AS Ed. G. Robinson, Marcia Henderson (who replaced Barbara Rush) and John Forsythe finish "The Glass Web," the male members dash for Manhattan.
Forsythe, with David Wayne goes to Broadway for the play, "Tea-house of the August Moon"; and Robinson is headed for the Main Stem musical, "Las Vegas." . . .
Rocky Cooper is on the European scene for a tour with Gary and his dotter, Maria. So you can bet Giselle Pascal, who's been finding Cooper "younger than Springtime," will do a re-take with her long-time suitor, Prince Ranier, of Monaco. Sylvia Lewis, this week press-mentioned as "Don O'Connor's new love," isn't! She's the gal we told you he was nutz about months ago.

Today's The Day...

★ BACK TO THE ROOST—One of the charter employees of The Mercury when it was founded at 62 High street 22 years ago was back on the main drag yesterday. He was Lewis E. Russell, The Mercury's original classified advertising manager. Today he is divisional vice-president of Pillsbury Mills, Inc., at Minneapolis in charge of distribution. Russell is in Pottstown because of the 25th alumni reunion of Pottstown high school's class of 1928 tonight at the Brookside Country club. His wife Betty was a member of the class. The Russells are staying with Mrs. Russell's parents Mr. and Mrs. John Sassaman, 54 West Fourth street, for several weeks.
Russell is the son of Mr. and Mrs.
George Russell, 336 Oak street, and a brother of Raymond Russell of Maple Gardens.

★ ROTCing—John M. Nycum Jr., 78
Robland street, this week began four weeks of Air Force ROTC Summer training at Lawson Air base, Fort Benning, Ga. A student at Franklin and Marshall college, he is a member of the Arnold Air society.

★ THREE FINISHED—Three Pottstown arcades will complete basic training today at the Quartermaster Replacement training center at Fort Lee, Va.
They are Pvt. Richard A. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Sweetwood, 26
Reynolds avenue; Pvt. John F. Fegely, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob C. Fegely, Ringing Hill, and Pvt. Robert G. Yergey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Yergey, 38 West Main street, South Pottstown. Private Williams is a grad of Girard College, Philadelphia; Private Fegely was graduated from Pottstown high school and Private Yergey is a North Coventry high school alumnus. . . .
Pvt. Joseph R. Hurter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto T. Hurter, 79 Mt. Vernon street, will be graduated from the graves registration course at Fort Lee, Va. next Friday. Private Hurter is a Pottstown high school alumnus and joined the Army the past February.

that looked like a monstrous goldfish was caught in the Manatawny at Memorial park yesterday by 14-year-old Stephen Pollinoz Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Pollinoz, State street, Pottstown RD 3. He said it's a golden carp. He landed it without much trouble.
His bait was the old reliable, worms.
"I tried to sell him but I couldn't sell him," the young angler reported, "so I'll see if I can eat it." The carp's his second big catch there of the year. Two months ago, he landed a nice-sized catfish.

★ CABLEMAN'S SCHOOL — Airmail

Vacationing With Mercury Readers

By THE VACATION EDITOR
(Mercury Staff Writer)

The thermometer on that insipid kitchen wall read 98 degrees. That's hotter than it's been for a number of Summers in Pottstown kitchens.

It was only June, but the sun at high noon was like the blazing sun of August. Gardens and lawns were blanched. The tiny breeze was like the breath of a dragon.

"Ninety-eight in the kitchen," cried Judith Simpson, "and that lunatic wants to go south on vacation. Well he can go south and he'll go alone."

Mrs. Simpson was a plump woman in her middle forties.

Asbury Park Beach

weighed 197 pounds on the bathroom scales and stood just five feet, six inches tall. She liked cold, crisp weather.

Her idea of a vacation was a week away from her dreary little kitchen in the flat—somewhere

Main Street, Danville

high in the mountains of Canada or New England.

EVERETT Simpson was a tall, lean man who shivered and shook each year at Winter's first snowfall. He liked the parching sun of the Summer. "Ah, the hotter the better," he always used to say with a shy glance at his wife.

The Simpsons argued long into the night and sticky morning which followed. Exhausted and angry, neither would relent. Each refused to budge from the flat and when vacation time rolled around in August they suffered at home.

Disproving the theory of Mrs. Simpson were five Pottstonians who just returned from deep in Dixie.

These five also made the Vacation Editor eat crow. They knocked his "nobody-ever-goes-to-Louisiana-in-the-Summer" theory into a smashed hat.

MR. AND Mrs. Jacob Sova, their daughter, Sharon Lynn, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Ottaviano, all of 41 Cherry street, found Alexandria, La., no hotter than Pottstown.

Mrs. Sova reported, "It was just wonderful down there. It was 92 for several days, but we didn't mind the heat. New Orleans is a beautiful city. We were to Florida twice. And now that I've seen Louisiana I don't know which is the best."

"But it really wasn't hot. I don't think it was any hotter than it is around here."

Chasing after sea shells and battling the breakers at Asbury Park, N. J., are Mr. and Mrs. Irving Jackson and children, Cheryl Ann, Malcolm and Roger, of 710 Manatway street.

THEY WROTE that familiar vacation greeting to all their friends back in sweltering Pottstown. "Having a nice time."

Their card showed a beach scene from Asbury Park.

A card from Toledo, Ohio, read: "Alice Haines and friend, John Link, and granddaughter, Robin Lee Kaufmann, are having a wonderful time on Toledo excursion on the SS 'Wayne.' Also visiting Edward Henry, Toledo, and taking in the sesqui-centennial."

The card, which showed a picture of the "Wayne," was sent by Alice Haines, 513 King street.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Warner, Elverson RD 2, wrote from Danville, N.Y., "Spending a couple days visiting here in Danville."

Their card showed Main street, Danville.

Two Cars Damaged Heavily in Crash

There was heavy damage but no injuries when a Spring City man's car collided with another car at Township Line and Camp Council roads, two miles north of Phoenixville, it was reported yesterday by Paoli State police.

Walter Kopystecki, 26, Spring City, was traveling south on Township Line, while J. Sherwood Knight, 67, Devon, was traveling east on Camp Council road.

Damage was estimated at $1000 to each car. Trooper William Petric investigated the accident, which happened Thursday.

Firemen Use New Truck To Rescue Stranded Cat

LOCK HAVEN, June 26 (AP)—The Fire department got a new $30,000 aerial ladder truck three weeks ago and used it for the first time today to rescue a cat.

The cat, stranded atop a 65-foot tree, had been annoying neighbors two nights in a row.

Joseph Montavino, assistant fire chief, suffered cat scratches in the rescue.

When you hit the dusty trail mail The Mercury one card. The Vacation Editor will print your message where all your neighbors and friends can read it.

SWIMMING FOR SAFETY!

Unfortunately each year there are a tragically large number of water accidents, many of which result fatally and nearly all of which are unnecessary.

Any person who wants to do so can learn to swim with safety and the way to do so is to take lessons from a qualified instructor.

Beware of the "Learn-to-Swim-in-One-Easy Lesson" promoters. It can't be done and much harm has come about by giving people the impression that learning to swim is a simple matter. There is a tremendous difference between being able to paddle for a few strokes in shallow water and being able to care for oneself in deep and rough water.

Swimming is fun, and the better you can swim the more fun you have. The observance of a few reasonable safety precautions does not mean any less fun for the swimmer, so the wise person will look carefully at these cartoons and follow the suggestions made. By doing so, he will be able to participate with pleasure and safety in a grand sport.

Paul Reveals How Believers Can Rejoice in Trial

Disciple Imprisoned at Rome Writes Continuously to Christian Churches The Golden Text

Paul a prisoner—the voyage. The peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall guard your hearts and your thoughts in Christ Jesus.—Philippians 4:7. Scripture—Philippians.

TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS come to all peoples of all races, colors and modes of living and in all times, from the beginning of man's residence on earth up to our own times.

In any century there are those who take their griefs with courage and cheerfulness, and those who permit them to overshadow their whole lives.

We all have friends who take their troubles bravely, who can think of others who are worse off than themselves, and try to lighten their burdens instead of thinking only of their own. Also, those who permit adversity to overcome them completely, making their mournful companions who can talk only of their own griefs and insist that they never can be happy again.

St. Paul, even while he was imprisoned for two years with the prospect of a cruel death ahead, could yet be joyful and impart his joy to others. During his imprisonment he was continuously chained to a Roman soldier, the guard being changed every six hours.

Under those circumstances, how could a man be joyful? Paul was, and part of his happiness came from the fact that he was spreading the Word, for many of these Roman Praetorians were led to believe in Christ from hearing Paul and his visitors expound the Gospel.

He writes to the church at Philippi that "I would ye should understand, brethren, that the things which happened unto me have fallen out rather unto the furtherance of the Gospel; so that my bonds to Christ are manifest in all the palace, and in all other places."

Then he tells how many of the brethren in the Lord, becoming more confident by Paul's attitude, are bolder to speak the message without fear. Some, he writes, "preach Christ even of envy and strife; and some also of good will." Those who preached in contention were not sincere, hoping to add to his affliction, Paul writes. "But the others preach of love, knowing that I am not set for the defence of the Gospel."

"What then? notwithstanding, every way, whether in pretence or in truth, Christ is preached; and I therein do rejoice, yea, and will rejoice."

Paul's Joy in Christ

During Paul's imprisonment in Rome for two years before his martyrdom he lived in his own house, but was continuously chained to a Roman soldier, even while writing epistles to the various churches.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Paul was allowed visitors with whom he pleaded the cause of Christ. The soldiers guarding him heard this talk, as Paul writes to the Philippians, "my bonds become manifest in Christ in all the palace."

Paul writes of sending his "brother and companion," Epaphroditus to Philippi. He had been very sick, Paul writes, but "God had mercy on him; and not on him only, but on me also, lest I should have sorrow upon sorrow."

Paul ends his epistle to the Philippians by thanking them for gifts brought to him by Epaphroditus. He called them "an odor of a sweet smell, a sacrifice acceptable, well pleasing to God."

Have mercy upon us, O Lord, have mercy upon us; for we are exceedingly filled with contempt.—(Psalm CXIII. 3.)

When we ourselves walk in the ways of the Lord but fail to try to help those who do not, we are departing from the teachings of God's Word. It is right that we have contempt for evil as such, but no man should be held in our contempt but rather in our Christian charity, that we may endeavor always to help those who need help.

Nehru Returns Home After London Trip

BOMBAY, India, June 26 (U.P.)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, got home to India today from his trip to the London coronation and Egypt, but a dust storm delayed his return to his capital.

He plans to fly on tomorrow if the dust settles enough around Delhi to permit plane travel.

He said his trip abroad "was definitely well worth while and has brought about good results, and I am happy that I went."

After he landed, several Bombay workers demonstrated against the arrest of three members of the revolutionary Communist party. The Bombay Government said they were detained on charges of bloodlust.

Britain Takes First Step To Recognize Republic

LONDON, June 26 (U.P.)—Britain took the first small formal step today toward recognizing Egypt's switch from monarchy to Republic. A Foreign office spokesman said the Government acknowledged receipt of an Egyptian communication which reported the change.

Full recognition is expected shortly when steps are taken to reaccredit ambassador Sir Ralph Stevenson, now on sick leave, from deposed infant King Faud to President Mohamed Naguib.

No - Belief in God Is NOT Enough!

Many people are risking their eternal salvation on a "religion" of their own... which is actually no religion at all.

"Oh, I believe in God," they say, "but I don't go to church. I'm just not the religious type."

Almost everybody, of course, believes that there is a God. Common sense tells us that this is so. But if we actually believe there is a God, should not this same common sense tell us we must do something about it? And how can we give expression to our belief in God if not through religion?

Religion is simply the consequence of our realization of Who God is. It is our striving to be honest and consistent with this knowledge—to learn and fulfill our duties to our Creator.

Catholics believe that God created us for a definite purpose... that He gave us the intelligence to recognize what that purpose is—and the means to fulfill it. It is through our religion that we give evidence of our desire to honor and serve God. It is through religion that we approach God in faith, repentance, love and gratitude.

If you are living in the belief that you don't need religion... that all you have to do is to believe in

Bishop Oxnham Flails Charges

Says Communism Hasn't Influenced Protestant Churches

Pottstown area delegates to the opening session of the World Methodist Convocation of Evangelism in Philadelphia's Convention Hall yesterday heard a defiant answer to critics of the church by one speaker.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnham, Washington, D. C., was the man who attacked recent charges of Communist influence in the churches.

"Name one clergyman who holds a position of large responsibility in any Protestant church who is a member of the Communist party," he challenged.

"The churches have not been infiltrated with Communist atheism," he asserted.

The Methodist bishop's address was apparently an answer to a remark made by a Congressman in the US House of Representatives recently.

"Bishop Oxnham works for the Lord on Sunday and for the Communist front the rest of the week," Rep. Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif.) had charged.

Among the Pottstown area delegates who heard the charge contradicted by the bishop was the Rev. Charles Truax, pastor of Cedarville and Temple Methodist churches.

Two others who were official delegates to the morning sessions on evangelism addressed by the bishop were Mrs. Milton Detwiler and Mrs. Walter Myers, both of Seales Memorial Methodist.

The Rev. Maurice E. Hoover, pastor of Seales church, was also present at the opening session of the three-day convocation honoring the 250th birthday of Church founder John Wesley.

Some 5000 delegates from all over the United States heard the Washington bishop open the sessions.

"The charge of Communist infiltration in the church is the last refuge of scoundrels," the bishop asserted.

HE ALSO said that "men who insist that God's will is irrelevant to the economic process are, in effect, bowing God out."

"There are all too many nominal Christians who insist that the teachings of Jesus constitute unrealistic idealism," he continued, "and irreverently speak of the futility of the 'distant ideal.'"

"There are enough Christians in influential positions to lead the world to peace and justice if they would take Jesus seriously," the bishop concluded.

Another speaker at the sessions yesterday was Bishop William C. Martin, president of the National Council of Churches and also of the Council of 60 bishops.

In his talk he developed the theme of God's judgment, saying that man brings war and pestilence on himself through disobedience, arrogance and unbrotherliness.

ACTIVITIES of the convocation today will include a session this morning at 9 o'clock on the sub-

IN 50 YEARS HE TRAVELED 225,000 MILES, MOSTLY ON HORSEBACK, AND USUALLY STUDYING. HE PREACHED 40,000 SERMONS.

WESLEY, BARRED FROM HIS LATE FATHER'S PULPIT, PREACHED SEVEN EVENINGS FROM HIS TOMBSTONE!

His motto: "Do all the good you can, in all the ways you can... to all the people you can, as long as ever you can."

He founded a dispensary, orphanage, homes for aged, printed 400 publications.

PAY TRIBUTE—This is the man to whom Pottstown area Methodists are paying tribute on the 250th anniversary of his birth this week. Methodism's official tribute to its founder is the World Convocation of Evangelism, which began yesterday in Philadelphia with delegates from local churches attending. Tomorrow afternoon more local Methodists will travel by bus and private automobile to a huge mass meeting at Franklin Field in West Philadelphia, climax of the three-day convention. It is expected that 60,000 persons will crowd into the stadium for the outdoor service, where world leaders of the Church will speak and 1000 new members will be received.

ject "Work of the Holy Spirit," in Convention Hall.

The afternoon will be devoted to historical tours, including St. George's, oldest Methodist church in the world, which stands in downtown Philadelphia.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the delegates will return to Convention hall for a musical program "Methodism Sings Again."

Eleven young people of Seales church will be a part of the massed choir of 1000 voices that will sing favorite hymns of the Methodist movement.

Tomorrow morning there will be services in St. George's church at 11 o'clock, with Bishop Arthur J. Moore presiding.

MANY OF the convocation delegates are pastors who will be guest speakers in Pottstown area pulpits at morning services tomorrow.

Seales and Bethel Methodist churches are among those who will entertain the visiting preachers.

Early tomorrow afternoon more than 150 Pottstown area Methodists will go to Philadelphia by bus or private automobile for the grand climax of the convocation—a mass meeting at Franklin Field.

PASTOR TO GIVE TALK ON SYNOD

Congregation Will Hear Rev. Frantz Give Report

The Rev. John B. Frantz, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, will report to his congregation tomorrow morning on the General Synod of the Reformed church that he attended in Tiffin, Ohio, the past week.

Topic of the sermon in which he will discuss the Synod is "The Vitality of the Church." He will speak on this theme at both the early service at 8 a. m. and the regular one at 10:45 a. m.

The local pastor, an alternate delegate to the national convocation of the Church, represented Dr. William Shaffer, president of the Philadelphia Synod, who was unable to attend.

The Rev. Frantz is vice president of the area synod, which includes Pottstown.

He was one of four pastors and three laymen who represented the Reformed churches in this area at the triennial meeting.

Bible Words to Live by

JOHN 3:16—"Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren."

I hesitate to suggest my favorite Bible verse. It is a bit as if some one asked me to name my favorite son or daughter. There are four of them and each has an equal place in my affections. Bible verses are a bit like that to me.

Perhaps John 3:16 stands at the top of the list. No other verse seems to embody so much of the gospel. This verse, sometimes called, "The Gospel in a Nutshell" certainly is at the heart of the gospel message. God's infinite love His supreme gift to man, His inclusive invitation to eternal life, and His promise of our redemption through Christ, are the basic foundations on which our salvation rests.

It is for these and other reasons that I cherish John 3:16, as containing a gold nugget of spiritual truth of par excellent value.

Expert Says Gravel Shift Caused Hole

HARRISBURG, June 26 (P)—A State geologist reported today that a ground cave-in at Berwick, Columbia county, was probably caused when gravel flowed into an underground cave, causing the earth's surface to sink.

The cave-in occurred Monday when the lawn and sidewalk of a home sunk within the space of a few hours. The 40-foot hole extended a third of the way under the 12-room house.

"The most probable explanation for the subsidence is that the underlying limestone is cavernous and that the lower gravels washed into a cave, causing the surface to subside," said Carlyle Gray, a geologist in the Internal Affairs department.

'It's Been a Happy Life,' Muse Mr. and Mrs. Warren H. Grater of Trappe On the Eve of their Golden Wedding, To Be Observed With an Open House

"Our's has been a happy marriage." This statement was made by Mrs. Warren H. Grater, 521 Main street, Trappe, on the eve of her Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Grater are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary tomorrow. The pair will hold an open house to receive friends for the event. The couple was married in Evansburg, by the Rev. Marcellus Karcatr. Mrs. Grater was formerly Florence Casselberry.

"I wore a white organza gown. They wore them long then and you could scarcely walk in them. The top was made of lace and it had puffed sleeves with a gathered skirt. They didn't wear headpieces."

For their honeymoon, the couple traveled to Philadelphia and Willow Grove.

Mrs. Grater exclaimed, "You couldn't go very far at that time. It was the horse and buggy days." Their first home was made in Trappe and today, fifty years later, they still are residents of the town and say they'd "hate" living anywhere else.

Three children compose the family. They are: Hazel Tyson, 501 High street, Pottstown; Mrs. Adela Kanouse and Kathryn Brendlinger.

Mr. Grater has been working for himself as a carpenter and painter. His hobby is raising dahlias. He has several hundred planted.

Both are members of the Augustus Lutheran church, Trappe.

Mrs. Grater's opinions of the young June brides is, "They have newer views of things, but I think they are just as happy now as we were then."

Albuquerque, New Mexico to Be Home of Albert J. Impink and Bride

Albert J. Impink Jr., 623 Spruce street, claimed a bride from Drexel Hill at a morning ceremony performed in the bride's city, and took her to Albuquerque, N. Mex., to make their home.

Patricia Ann Kaufmann, the bride, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. Norman Kaufmann, Drexel Hill.

Albert's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Impink, 623 Spruce street.

Nuptial mass was read to solemnize the marriage in St. Bernard's Catholic church, Drexel Hill, with the Rev. William Finnigan officiating.

Soloist was Martha Ann Wills, Lansdale.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was gown in white Belgium lace and nylon tulle.

Her bodice of lace was fitted above a bouffant skirt of tulle which which formed a slight train in back.

To catch to her hair her finger-tip veil, the bride wore a crown adorned with pearls.

Lily-of-the-valley framed the white orchids in her bouquet, which mist green silk organza and carried old fashioned bouquets of yellow roses and snapdragons.

Barbara Ann Kaufmann was maid of honor for her sister.

Shirley Impink, a sister of the benedict, was the single bridesmaid.

Both were attired in gowns of old fashioned bouquets of yellow roses and snapdragons.

Their headpieces were formed from similar flowers.

Best man was Warren L. Propes, Pottstown.

John H. Hausmann, Pottstown, and Joseph Denshaw, Trenton, N. J., were the ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Drexel Brooke inn and lodge in Drexel Hill.

New Jersey's shoreline was the pair's honeymoon destination, and the bride traveled wearing a Summer suit of pale blue with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

After the wedding trip, the couple left for Albuquerque, New Mexico. They will reside in that Bernalillo county city in the North-western corner of the state.

The bridegroom was graduated from The Hill school here and received his degree from Villanova college.
